BOTH ARE BLIND.

That Did Not Prevent Charles C. Gamble and Miss Bennett from Marrying.

The mere statement that Charles C. Gamble of Luzerne and Miss Susanna A. Bennett of the West Side were married yesterday by Rev. Rogers Israel in St. Luke's church does not convey any particular significance. Interest is added to the event by the total blindness of bride and groom and two others who attended the ceremony, as well as the blindness in one eye of another member of the bridal party. All are wellknown people.

After procuring a marriage license yesterday from Clerk of the Courts Thomas the party went to St. Luke's rectory where they solicited the services of Mr. Israel. Miss Bennett, now Mrs. Gamble is a member of St. Luke's and the rector satisfied himself that the proposed union was desirable before performing the ceremony. In the church were Charles Linn, the blind street singer and organ player; Mrs. Linn; the bride's father, Miss Lilly Gunton, and Mrs. Jacoby, of Luzerne. and Elliot Laphy, of Noxen, Pa. The impressive Episcopal marriage ritual was soon pronounced and the party left the church headed by the newly wedded couple, hand-in-hand.

Last night a TRIBUNE reporter found number of merry persons at the bride's home in Hennessy court near Jackson street. Line, the blind musician, was there in office and everybody

The bride is a daughter of Charles Bennett, the blind peddler, who is a familiar peddler about the city. Miss Bennett is 19 years of age and became totally blind five years ago from an attack of meningitis. She was edu-cated at the Pennsylvania Institution for the Blind in Philadelphia. Mr. Gamble, the groom, is 35 years old, and resides at Luzerne Luzerne county. He has an income sufficient to support bimself and wife. They will reside in Luzerne, where, it is understood, a reception will be tendered them on their arrival tomorrow.

SCRANTON CONTINGENT

They Acted as an Escort to Governor Pattison from This to the Parlor City Yesterday Afternoon - Hundreds Will Go Today-Brief Sketch of the Commercial Travelers' As. sociation and Founding of the Home-

Binghamton has never had so elaborate and extensive a celebration as the corner-stone laying of the Home of the Commercial Travelers' Association of the United States which occurs this afternoon. The invited guests number no less personages than President Cleve-land, ex-President Harrison, Governors land, ex-President Harrison, Governors Pattison, Flower, McKinley, and the governors and their staffs of several other states of the Union, Levi P. Morton, Chauncey M. Depew, Senator David B. Hill, Senator Murphy, Congressman Reed and all the officers, members of congress and the legislature of the state of New York; the mayors of all the cities of New York and Pennsylvania, and the representaand Pennsylvania, and the representa-tives of the press and members of prominent business houses throughout the United States.

The subject of building a home for indigent commercial travelers is one that had occupied the minds of the frateroity for many years, but no definite action was taken until March 12, 1891. On that date the following commercial travelers were stopping at German lecture will be given, explaining the book of Jonab.

Megargee Bros. have issued a tag for the use of the drummers who attend the celebration at Binghamton today. It is appropriately incribed so that in case the travelers become "muddled" by the prevailing enthusiasm, they will be likely to reach home safely.

Judge Archbald and Jury Commissioners Howe and Ward yesterday placed 129

hamton. The subject was thoroughly discussed and upon the suggestion of A. H. Calaum, a preliminary organization was effected by the election of A. H. Ellis, president, and J. D. Aldrich, secretary. The purpose was to feel the pulse of traveling men and see if the time was ripe to take definite action. In September of the same year, Mr. Aldrich had become thoroughly satisfied that an association of this kind could be formed, and sent out postal ceased. The remains were brought from cards calling a meeting at Elmira on Philadelphia yesterday noon. Saturday, Oct. 31, 1891.

> FORMED ON A SOUND BASIS. The meeting was held at Bunday hall and was attended by a number of representative traveling men. Officers were elected and a committee appointed to secure a charter. This committee, after consulting eminent legal authority, decided that special legislation was necessary in order to obtain the objects desired, and Hon V. E. Peckham, of Jamestown, N. Y., was engaged to draft a bill for a special act of incorporation. The bill was presented to the legislature of the state of New York in January, 1892; passed both houses and was signed by Governor Flower on February 25 Accompanying the bill was a statement from the executive from which the following

On March 26, 1892, at Strong Assembly rooms, Binghamton, 400 traveling men met, adopted bylaws, and elected officers to carry out the purposes of the association. The first annual convention of the association was held at Rochester, Oct. 11, 1792, and a site committee was appointed, consisting of John E. Roche, of Scranton; D. K. Clink, Chicago; F. C. Hamilton, Evansville, Ind.; C. C. Gale, Boston, and Mack Wilson, Cleveland, and was instructed to visit the several sites offered by the cities of New York York and report to the next annual convention, which was appointed to be held Excitement ran high when the committee through D. K. Clink, chairman, read the report. He announced that every site was carefully examined, but the citizens of Binghamton had offered 100 acres of land and $15,000 in eash, and the report recommended that the offer be unanimously accepted. The report was unanimously adopted. Deeds of the site were turned over to the association and accepted after a careful search back to the original grant had been investigated.

On July 19 of this year the board of managers selected from twelve sets of plans those of Architect George O. Garnsey, of Chicago. The building committee immediately tlet contracts to lay out and build | road ways, and for exeavating and laying the foundation. On July 12 this contract was awarded to Sullivan and Clark, of Binghamton, for $12,320. Miss Bessie Booth, daughter of Secretary W. H. Booth, of Hornellsville, N. Today all roads lead to Binghamton, and in the parade this afternoon con-servative calculators figure that there will be upwards of 100,000 men in line.

POURED INTO CITY LAST NIGHT. About 200 associations of commercial travelers arrived in Binghamton last night, and, with the other societies and visiting guests, the armory was set aside by the citizens of Binghamton as a reception room, and after the reception a banquet was tendered. The Scranton association assembled at the rooms of the Builders' Exchange at 421 Lackewanna avenue yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock, and at 3:15 formed into line.
